

Machine learning is a branch of artificial intelligence.

Python is a popular programming language.

Deep learning uses neural networks.

Natural language processing is used in chatbots.